Welcome to Linnaeus University

A modern, international university in the mid-east part of Sweden. A university in two nature-loving cities – the coastal town, Kalmar, and the greenest city in Europe, Växjö. Linnaeus University was founded in 2010 through a merger between two universities, and is named after the world-known scientist Carl von Linnaeus. Feel free to discover life at Linnaeus University and get in-depth knowledge in anything in our education profile; sustainability, entrepreneurship, internationalisation, or culture.
