School of Arts, Languages and Cultures

Arts, Languages and Cultures is a large multi-disciplinary School based within the Faculty of Humanities at The University of Manchester.

With 17 different disciplinary areas, the School is internationally renowned in the fields of human cultures, beliefs, institutions and languages. As one of the largest groupings of students, teachers and researchers in the arts and languages anywhere in the world, the School fosters interdisciplinary research and teaching at all levels.

#CreativeManchester

The School and the University are investing £3.3m in a new project, Creative Manchester, which will help to support its ambitious strategic vision in the cultural and creative industries locally, nationally and internationally.

The University hosts an array of cultural institutes and activities, including the Whitworth Art Gallery, Manchester Museum, the John Rylands Research Institute, the Centre for New Writing, the Institute for Cultural Practices, Multilingual Manchester and a research hub in Digital Humanities. The University also led the successful recent bid for Manchester to become a UNESCO City of Literature.

New Courses

As part of the Creative Manchester project and an expansion of the School's offerings, a new MA programme in Heritage Studies and a new BA in World Literatures will launch in September 2018. These programmes will complement the wide range of undergraduate and postgraduate courses and programmes available at the University, centred on creativity and the creative industries, including Art Gallery and Museum Studies, Arts Management, Creative Writing, Drama, Music, Film Studies and Screenwriting.

Find out about all of our courses: www.alc.manchester.ac.uk/study

THE QUEEN'S COLLEGE, OXFORD

ELECTION OF PROVOST

The Governing Body of The Queen's College, Oxford, seeks to elect a new Provost with effect from 1 October 2019. The Provost will offer inspiring and engaging leadership to this outstanding academic community, and will represent the College both within Oxford University and the public domain.

Ideal candidates will be women or men of academic or professional distinction who have a strong commitment to – and enthusiasm for – teaching, research, and the values of academic excellence. They will have a considerable reputation for achievement in their chosen field, and a wide range of interests that will allow them to speak to diverse groups of people.

Information about The Queen's College, and further particulars about the appointment and the application procedure, can be found on the College's website <https://www.queens.ox.ac.uk/provost>, or obtained from Dr Curly Moloney at Moloney Search (tqc@moloneysearch.com), the College's advisors in this process.

Applications should be sent electronically to Provostship2019@queens.ox.ac.uk, and should include: a) A curriculum vitae, b) A concise statement explaining the candidate's reasons for applying, and how the candidate believes he or she matches the qualities that the College requires.

The closing date for applications is 16th March 2018.

The Queen's College is committed to diversity and equality and is an equal opportunities employer.

MOLONEY SEARCH

CHAIR IN SOCIOLOGY – REFERENCE 58941 FULL TIME/PERMANENT

It is an exciting time to join the School of Social Policy, following the recent relocation of the Sociology subject group into the School and creation of the Department of Social Policy, Sociology and Criminology. The Department has experienced a rapid growth in academic staff, doubling in size and recently recruiting three Birmingham Fellows. This growth has created dynamic new research collaborations and opportunities. It has also enhanced our Sociology degree curriculum, leading to the creation of an exciting Joint Honours Sociology and Criminology degree.

Over the next five years, our strategic priorities seek to further enhance the international reputation of our sociological research and teaching programmes.

We are seeking an enthusiastic and dynamic sociologist who can make a significant contribution and offer leadership in relation to the following objectives:

- To build our research excellence and profile in one or more of the Departmental thematic areas: Social Theory and Social Transformation; Crime and Social Harm; Poverty, Wealth and Inequality; Ethnicity and Religion; Migration and Asylum; Civil Society and Volunteering
- To attract external research funding that enhances our ability to produce high-quality sociological research and to sustain a vibrant research environment
- To develop a postgraduate taught provision for Sociology

You will:

- Hold a higher degree (usually PhD) in a related field
- Have an international reputation for excellence in research and teaching demonstrated through an outstanding publications record

Informal Enquiries

Dr Simon Pemberton, Head of Department of Social Policy, Sociology and Criminology. Tel: 0121 415 8025, Email S.Pemberton.1@bham.ac.uk

Closing date: 6 April 2018

To download the details and submit an electronic application online visit: www.bham.ac.uk/jobs or call 0121 415 9000.
